Lotteries Prohibited By Law

As certain as the rising and setting of the sun is an attempt in every session of the Ohio General Assembly to legalize lotteries and other forms of gambling in this state.

The attempts pose a ticklish problem for all the rest of us, as well as for lawyers. The rest of us have varying ideas about what constitutes evil-doing, but we understand one thing clearly.

Under Ohio law, lotteries are evil per se. They are "forever to be prohibietd by law in this state"; that's what the law says.

Yet at one and the same time they are not prohibited by practice Some church organizations run lotteries routinely. They're called bingo. Many firemen's festivals have a bingo game going somewhere in a tent, along with other assorted gambling going on in the open.

This goes on because a great many Ohioans believe there is no evil intrinsic in bingo and lotteries in general - even gambling in general. They believe evil ensues when gambling is organized and carried on for profit by nefarious characters who prey on the weakness of their fellowmen.

The dilemma grows denser when it is realized that New York, New Jersey and New Hampshire prey on this weakness with legal sanction; that the United States was built with money from lotteries; and that in Nevada legalized gambling today is the state's principal

Year by year, biennium by biennium, Ohio finds its anti-lottery position assailed a little harder. The real punch of the assailing would come if the law were changed.

Then it would be found out that the door to organized gambling for personal profit had been pushed open for bad guys by people who purported to be good guys.

And then it would be too late.

A Good Group

Another group of Columbiana County youngsters will head for Canton next Friday and regional spelling bee competition.

They earned the right by outstanding performances Friday night in the annual county contest. Since he is from East Liverpool, it is natural that local attention is being focused on Andrew Bevan of East Junior High who finished first. Cynthia Gooch of Wellsville and the other three spellers in the first five - Shirley Carter of Columbiana R.D. 2, Vicki Franklin of Salem and Bruce Urbschat of Columbiana - all can be equally proud of their accomplishments.

The county delegation is a formidable one and should represent the area well in the Canton bee. We congratulate the youngsters on previous achievements and wish them well in their future endeavors in the field of spelling.

'Final Triumph Of Common Sense'

By Raymoud Moley

The decision of the Department of the Interior to drop the plan to build two new hydroelectric dams on the Colorado River and purchase power generated by a plant to be financed and built by a group of public and private utilities is the final triumph of common sense. It may well mean the beginning of the end of the 34year-old conflict between investor-owned electric utilities and the federal government.

Those not close to the scene should know the primary purpose of originally proposed dams on the Colorado River in northern Arizona was to generate electric power. The power would largely be used to bring water from the Colorado over a mountain hump to the thirsty and rapidly growing Phoenix-Tucson area.

Highlight of the opposition to building the dams was a campaign by conservationists, who claimed flooding considerable portions of the Grand Canyon above Hoover Dam and Lake Mead would impair the attractiveness of the

My own study of the proposed project convinced me the paramount issue was never a question of conserving natural beauty, but that generation of electric power could best be provided by steam and nuclear plants.

In the era we are entering, hydroelectric dams of the magnitude and purpose proposed would be too great a burden on the taxpayers. I venture to suggest that, with more efficient use of coal and nuclear power, several of the great hydro dams will ultimately be only reminders of the lack of foresight of a past ge-which caused great controversy during the Truman administration. Only one dam, at Bridge

Canyon, was then contemplated. The estimated cost was more than $2 billion. It was vigorously opposed by California and failed to get approval of Congress.

Subsequently, a case reached the Supreme Court concerning the allocation of Colorado River water among the states of the lower basin. After years of study the allocation was made and Arizona moved to claim its share through the two-dam plan.

The announcement by Interior Secretary Udall, which no doubt had the approval of President Johnson, said:

"We now propose to obtain low-cost pumping power for the project by federal prepayment for 400 megawatts of capacity in a large efficient thermal plant built in the region under the sponsorship of the utilities associated with WEST (the Western Energy Supply and Transmission Associates.)'

WEST is an association of 10 investor-owned power companies, which will probably include five or more government-owned power suppliers, operating in the Southwest. By joining the various members of transmission lines, its program can supply the power needs of an area equal to one-fifth of the continental United

No federal tax money will be used for development. Capital will come from private invesotrs. This co-operative arrangement will save several billion dollars in construction and operating costs over the next 20 years.

The associated companies in WEST will build the plant for the new Central Arizona Project. Instead of a federal or federal-state public ownership, the bulk of the money will come from these companies. The federal government will thus become a customer, not a competitor.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW

In January 1966, the local dog warden, Harold E. Flowers, organized a humane society, naming it the East Liverpool chapter of the Ohio Federated Humane Societies.

He assumed the office of secretary - treasurer and the undersigned were named directors and Jennie Putnam Boston vice president.

Mr. Flowers informed us a charter would cost $25. We voted to pay same. At each monthly meeting we were informed by Mr. Flowers the charter had not been received. This continued until the June meeting.

In the meantime we had two bake sales and a rummage sale which netted funds as well as membership fees and donations. Also, the undersigned contacted business and professional people for donations and, along with our personal funds, this came to a fair amount. We also solicited merchandise for the various sales.

AT EVERY monthly meeting we asked for a financial statement and membership roster. At the June meeting, Mr. Flowers announced that we had about $100 in the bank. We did receive oral information that one bake sale netted $29 and the other $69, but we could never elicit any information regarding the amount received from the rummage sale. We were also informed of gifts totaling $81. The memberships we sold and the donations we collected, as well as our personal funds, exceeded $100. Various personal friends told us they donated various amounts, one in particular gave approximately $200.

Meantime, we contacted Mr. Thomas Justice in Columbus, president for many years of the Ohio Federated Humane Societies. He said Mr. Flowers had written requesting information on how to apply for a charter, but he had heard nothing further from him. Mr. Justice also pointed out that the Ohio Federated Humane Society name cannot be used unless chartered by the

In June or July, Mr. Flowers made a small deposit at a local bank under the name of the East Liverpool chapter of the Ohio Federated Humane Societies. This caused some confusion as the legally - chartered group of that name has had a substantial account there for a number of years, although inactive at the present time. Mr. Flowers asked them to turn their charter over to him. This they refused to do, nor would they give him permission to use their name. They are ethical business people and will become active again in humane work.

THE UNDERSIGNED, along with a few others, received identical letters dated Sept. 18, 1966, headed Potters City Humane Society, Inc.

Mrs. John McThena president headquarters 404 Elm St., East Liverpool, and signed by H. E. Flowers, secretary, stating we were voted out of society for infraction of Rule 9 and 13 of the rules and bylaws of said society.

To say we were surprised is an understatement, as we had never heard of this society until receiving notice we were expelled. Never having been a member of an organization, how can you break their regulations.

We wholeheartedly and faithfully worked for Mr. Flowers' first organization, not realizing during those first six months of 1966 no charter had been applied for.

It was suggested in a letter to Mr. Flowers that inasmuch as the donations and memberships had been solicited under an illegal title, the donors be contacted and given a chance to reclaim their funds or redistribute same if thev desired. We felt that was the fair thing to do or turn the money over to the legally - chartered group of that name. He never answered the letter or letters, not even the written request for our personal funds.

From January 1966 and including June 1966 all meetings of the East Liverpool chapter of the Ohio Federated Humane societies were advertised in The Review, also we as directors of same received publicity and we humbly apologize to all people we solicited for donations to a humane society. We are not in any way connected with a local humane society, but we are still humane people

(The above is signed by Mrs. Jennie Putnam Boston, Mrs. H. Herman, Mrs. M. M. Parnes and Harold V. Risinger.)

Associated Press and United Press International dispatches from Washington have informed the country the Soviet Union and Red China have reached an agreement to assure steady flow of Soviet war materials to North Vietnam

Even after this became known, State Department officials were urging Congress to pass measures to improve trade relations with Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

The government's own intelligence sources abroad have reported that "some sort of tripartite understanding" has been reached among Hanoi, Peiping and Moscow

Whatever their ideological differences, they now have come to the conclusion they must stand together against the United States. The North Vietnamese have been getting small arms and light equipment from China for some time, but they depend on Russia for such items as MIG jet fighters and anti-aircraft missiles.

Most of these supplies are going by sea, but some of the more important items connected with missile operations are being shipped over-

The United States has taken no steps to halt Russian vessels or the ships of any of the other countries steadily moving in and out of the port of Haiphong.

The obvious fact is that Red China and the Soviet Union are helping to kill Americans in Vietnam and preventing the Hanoi government from entering into peace negotiations.

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Ia., said during hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Com

"It appears we have fooled around too long and now the Russians and Chinese are getting back together on logistic support for North This is making American military men more should be fought, the conflict in Vietnam may go on for years. One point raised by opponents of a blockade is that no state of war has been declared by Congress. But there are many precedents in in ternational law for the interception of arms and munitions without declaration of war. As recently as 1962, during the Kennedy administration, the United States Navy stopped and searched Russian vessels suspected of carrying equipment for Communist missile bases in Cuba. Congress had not passed any resolution specifically authorizing this action.

SIMILARLY, during the Korean war, though Congress had not declared a state of war, the U.S. Navy was employed along the entire Korean coast to prevent any kind of sea traffic from reaching the northern part of that coun try, which was held by Communists.

Vietnam casualties are continuing to mount. Military men privately are expressing concern that they should be expected to win a war without being given the right to employ essential military tactics - namely, to bomb all supply lines of the enemy and intercept at sea any shipments of war materials.

What is puzzling is that Congress has not taken cognizance of the Soviet and Red Chinese activities in supplying war materials to the Ha-

Meantime, we contacted Mr. Thomas Justice in Columbus, president for many years of the Ohio Federated Humane Societies. He said Mr. Flowers had written requesting information on how to apply for a charter, but he had heard nothing further from him. Mr. Justice also pointed out that the Ohio Federated Humane Society name cannot be used unless chartered by the home office.

In June or July, Mr. Flowers made a small deposit at a local bank under the name of the East Liverpool chapter of the Ohio Federated Humane Societies. This caused some confusion as the legally - chartered group of that name has had a substantial account there for a number of years, although inactive at the present time. Mr. Flowers asked them to turn their charter over to him. This they refused to do, nor would they give him permission to use their name. They are ethical business people and will become active again in humane work.

THE UNDERSIGNED, along with a few others, received identical letters dated Sept. 18, 1966, headed Potters City Humane Society, Inc.

Mrs. John McThena president headquarters 404 Elm St., East Liverpool and signed by H. E. Flowers, secretary, stating we were voted out of society for infraction of Rule 9 and 13 of the rules and bylaws of said society.

To say we were surprised is an understatement, as we had never heard of this society until receiving notice we were expelled. Never having been a member of an organization, how can you break their regulations

We wholeheartedly and faithfully worked for Mr. Flowers' first organization, not realizing during those first six months of 1966 no charter had been applied for.

It was suggested in a letter to Mr Flowers that inasmuch as the donations and memberships had been solicited under an illegal title, the donors be contacted and given a chance to reclaim their funds or redistribute same if they desired. We felt that was the fair thing to do or turn the money over to the legally - chartered group of that name. He never answered the letter or letters, not even the written request for our personal funds.

From January 1966 and including June 1966 all meetings of the East Liverpool chapter of the Ohio Federated Humane societies were advertised in The Review, also we as directors of same received publicity and we humbly apologize to all people we solicited for donations to a humane society. We are not in any way connected with a local humane society, but we are still humane people

(The above is signed by Mrs. Jennie Putnam Boston, Mrs. H. Herman, Mrs. M. M. Parnes and Harold V. Risinger.)

Odd Facts

An apartment house in a Paris suburb is France's longest dwelling. It stretches 1,877 feet and has some 1,500 occupants. It's serpentine form leaves lawn space for children to play in Seeds of the buckwheat are considered to be "grain" even though it is not a relative of such other grains as wheat, corn and rice, all of which are members of the grass family. Buckwheat belongs to the buckwheat family.

Materials of lesser value are often covered with gold. In Bangkok, Thailand, however a solid gold statue of Buddha was once covered with plaster to conceal its true value from invaders. Buddhist priests died without revealing the secret, but the gold came to light in 1956 when an accident cracked the plaster.

Associated Press and United Press International dispatches from Washington have informed the country the Soviet Union and Red China have reached an agreement to assure steady flow of Soviet war materials to North Vietnam

Even after this became known, State Department officials were urging Congress to pass measures to improve trade relations with Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

The government's own intelligence sources abroad have reported that "some sort of tripartite understanding" has been reached among Hanoi, Peiping and Moscow,

Whatever their ideological differences, they now have come to the conclusion they must stand together against the United States. The North Vietnamese have been getting small arms and light equipment from China for some time, but they depend on Russia for such items as MIG jet fighters and anti-aircraft missiles.

Most of these supplies are going by sea, but some of the more important items connected with missile operations are being shipped over-

ACCORDING TO international law, every nation may trade with either side in a war but takes the risk of having its trade interrupted and war supplies seized and confiscated as contraband.

The United States has taken no steps to halt Russian vessels or the ships of any of the other countries steadily moving in and out of the port of Haiphong.

The obvious fact is that Red China and the Soviet Union are helping to kill Americans in Vietnam and preventing the Hanoi government from entering into peace negotiations.

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Ia., said during hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Com-

"It appears we have fooled around too long.

and now the Russians and Chinese are getting back together on logistic support for North Vietnam

This is making American military men more and more unhappy about the way their operations have been restricted.

The bulk of Soviet support going by sea particularly all the oil as well as deckloads of military trucks - could be prevented from being landed at Haiphong

Supply lines north of Hanoi could be bombed If the armed services of the United States are not given the right to fight the war as it should be fought, the conflict in Vietnam may go on for years

One point raised by opponents of a blockade is that no state of war has been declared by Congress. But there are many precedents in international law for the interception of arms and munitions without declaration of war. As recently as 1962, during the Kennedy administration, the United States Navy stopped and searched Russian vessels suspected of carrying equipment for Communist missile bases in Cuba. Congress had not passed any resolution specifically authorizing this action

SIMILARLY, during the Korean war, though Congress had not declared a state of war, the U.S. Navy was employed along the entire Korean coast to prevent any kind of sea traffic from reaching the northern part of that country, which was held by Communists.

Vietnam casualties are continuing to mount. Military men privately are expressing concern that they should be expected to win a war without being given the right to employ essential military tactics - namely, to bomb all supply lines of the enemy and intercept at sea any shipments of war materials.

What is puzzling is that Congress has not taken cognizance of the Soviet and Red Chinese activities in supplying war materials to the Hanoi government.

There are many members who feel a resolution condemning the action would be a warning to both Red China and the Soviet Union.

Do You Believe In Hell?

In recent articles we have been giving some reasons that we have for the things that we believe. The Bible teaches that we should be ready to give such reasons. In our article today we should like to point out some reasons that we have for believing that it is possible for a person to be lost in an eternal Hell.

Some of our religious friends have been very zealous in trying to spread the teaching that there is no Hell. However, the Bible makes it quite clear that there is such a place. Let us notice some scriptures that teach this.

First, let us take a look at Matt. 10:28. "And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." A careful look at this passage will cause us to understand that there is some punishment that is worse than death. We are exhorted not to fear the one who is only able to kill us but rather to remember that there is one who can destroy our body and soul in Hell. If there is no such thing as Hell, Jesus did not know it. He warned against going there. Second, let us notice the 25th chapter of Matthew. Verses 31 and 32 give us a picture of the Judgment. All nations are gathered before the Lord and He divides them as a shepherd divides the sheep from the goats. To those on His right hand he extends an invitation for them to enter into life. (Verse 34). To those on the left he gives this statement. ". . . Depart from me. ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." (Verse 41). This statement makes it quite clear that there is to be "everlasting" fire for those who did not do the will of the Father. Notice also verse 46 in this chapter.

into everlasting punishment but the righteous into life eternal." This verse teaches that Heaven and Hell will both be eternal. Yes, there truly is a place called Hell. Notice this warning by Jesus in Mt. 7:13, 14. "Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat. Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.'

In this statement Jesus indicated that the decision whether we go to Heaven or Hell is entirely ours. We can enter into the way that leads unto life or we can reject this way and go the way that leads to destruction

How sad it would be to be lost. Hell is a place of eternal punishment. Avoid it by doing the will of the Lord. Search the Scriptures and then obey the Lord.

> 61-Year Record LOUISVILLE A - Chester R.

Snyder still remembers that first Sunday in 1906 - it was

Today Carol and I dusted her doll collection and packed it away. I must admit to a feeling of sadness, for the moment made all of the wedding preparations suddenly become real. Carol is being married in less than a month, yet it seems only yesterday John and I brought her home from the hospital.

Hansel and Gretel were last, and I smiled as I packed them. For they remind me of Carol and her young man. They seem such dreamy young innocents, but are really quite practical. Already they've solved many of the problems John and I never thought of until after our marriage. Yes, their path is well marked through the forest of matrimony.

To be sure, they may have troubled times, but they share a deep and abiding love for God that promises strength and comfort beyond their own resources. With God and His church at the center of their lives, they cannot ter and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

admit to a feeling of sadness, for the moment made all of the wedding preparations suddenly become real. Carol is being married in less than a month, yet it seems only yesterday John and I brought her home from the hospital.

Hansel and Gretel were last, and I smiled as I packed them. For they remind me of Carol and her young man. They seem such dreamy young innocents, but are really quite practical. Already they've solved many of the problems John and I never thought of until after our marriage. Yes, their path is well marked through the forest of matrimony.

To be sure, they may have troubled times, but they share a deep and abiding love for God that promises strength and comfort beyond their own resources. With God and His church at the center of their lives, they cannot

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of characer and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regu larly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THAT OLD SPRINGTIME disease "Let's-go-itis" has hit. It is reaching epidemic proportions in

The problem with this affliction is that it seems to hang on for such a long time and there is no actual "cure" known to man.

The symptoms vary from person to person, but the effects are the same. The first sign is an intense interest in the weather reports. When the sun is shining, the temperature climbing and balmy breezes blowing, there is a marked difference in the personality and mood.

When the weather changes for the worse, as is often the case in spring, the mood also changes for

Now everyone knows that there is a certain amount of work to be done around the family homestead. The yard must be cared for, the porch needs painting, there are a few loose shingles on the roof that need a couple of nails. the walks need patching, the basement needs cleaning, and so forth.

But when the weather is nice, all that anyone with this illness can think of is getting out into the countryside-whether it be for camping, fishing, sightseeing, or what have you. Work can wait.

On the other hand, when the weather is poor, the mood is also, and who wants to work when he is feeling low and wishing it were nice enough to get out? This would be the natural time to do many of the chores, but . . . well, some other time. Not today.

HERE THEN is the problem. When it is nice, you don't want to work. When it is bad, you don't want to work.

And so it goes. Nobody wants to spend time doing something that can be done later when there is so much to be enjoyed in the outdoors.

Besides, when you are under the open sky, all the worries of work at home are easily forgotten.

Next winter you will kick yourself for not having comthe vows you made previously and come down with another bad case of "let's-go-itis."

Housewives are devoting much time and effort toward finding a cure for this disease.

If anyone comes up with a preventive, or cure, they could bottle it and make millions selling it to the little women. But, I think you could double anything they would pay by selling it to the husbands who don't want such medicine falling into the hands of their wives.

IN ANSWER to several inquiries, the proposed Stokes Bil for the licensing of small firearms in Ohio died in committe in Legislature at Columbus.

There was an avalanche of opposition to the bill and it never got very far.

Several from this area wrote to their legislators in opposition to the proposal.

Interior Department. Sale of fishing licenses, permits, tags and stamps totaled 23.5 million, down 1.4 million from the previous year. Pennsylvania had the highest hunting receipts at $5.8 million for 956,169 licenses.

A BEAT THE PRO fishing contest has been started by the Department of Natural Resources and the Fred Arbogast Co. at Akron.

The state has been divided into five sections and fishermen will be competing against Dick Kotis, the pro. Dick is president of Arbogast. His fishing companion will be Dan Armbruster, chief of the Division of Wildlife.

On May 2, they will fish Buckeye Lake in Central Division; April 29, Burr Oak in the Southeast; May 8, Rocky Fork in Southwest; May 10, in Lake Erie; May 11, Sandusky River in Northwest, and May 24, Mokadore Reservoir in

The contest is open to all fishermen and entrants will compete against Dick's catch on the following weekend that he has fished in that area.

Anyone catching 10 larger fish of any specie in any lake within the region on any type of sport equipment with natural or artificial bait will be awarded a "Pro" pin. Further information will be announced later.

OHIO'S 50 STATE Parks, 24 forests and nurseries and 14 of the many wildlife areas will conduct a pre-season "Open House" for thousands of vistiors Sunday.

Uniformed personnel from the Divisions of Parks & Recreation, Wilclife and Forestry, as well as representatives of local civic organizations, will be on hand to welcome and guide visitors through the areas.

Beaver Creek State Park will be open all day, according to Elmer Hiles, park manager, who said members of the Columbiana County Forests & Parks Council will assist. Residents of the area also are urged to pay a visit to the Highlandtown Wildlife Area where a new 170-acre lake is being filled.

THE STOCKING of Highlandtown Lake has started and 600 channel catfish have been placed in the impoundment.
All have been averaging 17 to 18 inches. They are fish taken in the nets along with walleyes in other lakes.

More will be put in later.

SEVERAL AREA fishermen have been enjoying some nice catches the past week. Trout have been hitting Tomlinson Run Park Lake in Hancock County.

Crappies and walleyes are being taken now in Berlin servoir. They also have started hitting in other lakes. A few bass are being taken, and I was told two 14-inchers were caught this week in Beaver Creek.

The next two weekends should prove exceptionally good. Give it a try

THE LANDLORD was correct. Subject to Ohio's Fair Housing Act, the landlord may rent to anyone he desires and establish any conditions and terms he prefers.

For example, alandlord may refuse to rent to a tenant with children. He may refuse to rent to anyone, in fact, provided that, in the case of commercial housing, he does not refuse because of the person's race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin. The landlord may reserve the right of periodic inspection of his property. He also has the right to have the property returned to him in as good a condition as when it was when the tenant took possession.

If the property is in "perfect condition," but the landlord knows that the stairs to the basement may collapse at any moment, he could be liable for damages resulting to anyone on the stairs when they collapsed.

The landlord is responsible for complying with all state laws and local ordinances dealing with property.

Trumpet music, so pleasant to the ears of Naval Airman Don Montgomery of Wellsville while in the Great Lakes Naval Training Station band, has been replaced by the shriek of jet fighters and pounding of seas against the hull of his - the aircraft carrier Kittyhawk - off the coast of North Vietnam.

Montgomery, traine d in electronics, helps determine which planes are ready for flight and releases them for air missions.

He reports the carriers spend about 45 days "on the line" - in action - then return to port for refueling and new supplies. Personnel on the Kitty-

Montgomery, being "safe" aboard ship, has escaped injury or direct attacks by the Viet Cong. Recently in the news, stories concerning attempted bombing of U.S. ships by land - based anti-aircraft were written, but the attempts were just that and not successful, he indicated.

Though he entered the Navy of his own volition, Montgomery wants to get home to see his family and friends. When he comes home - he's expected in June - he will have almost three years left to

News stories about the operation of the Kittyhawk and her sister ships - which would normally go unnoticed by those not immediately concerned — are clipped and saved by Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery. By the slips of paper they can speculate as to whether or not their son is "in action" or in a "safe" port. Montgomery is still undecid-

When Augustine wrote them ne was in his middle forties. He had been a Christian for about a dozen years, but in those years he had dedicated his superb mind in the cultivation of his Christian thought and life.

FROM BOYHOOD through adolescence, and up to mature adulthood, Augustine, the son of a pagan father and a Christian mother, had been keenly aware of his deep need for true inner peace. He tried the profligacy of youth in sensual pleasures, but reaped therefrom the bitter fruits of wormwood and gall

Then, for a time, in his twenties, he embraced a widespread system of belief, or rather unbelief, known as Manichaeism, with its drive to free the good from the evil in man by the practice of acute abstinence from many of life's normal enjoyments. One day, in A.D. 386, when Augustine was in his early thirties, he walked, in agony of mind, in his garden in Milan. There he heard what he thought was the voice of a child repeating the words. 'Take up and read.'

Thereupon, he picked up a copy of Paul's Epistles and read in Romans, Chapter 13 At the end of the chapter he came upon the words, "Not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying; But put ye on the Lord

'Rest unto your souls.' Matt. 11:29

In Book I, Chapter 1, of his "Confessions." St. Augustine, incomparably the greatest of the Latin Church Fathers, wrote, "Thou hast made us for Thyself and our hearts are disquieted till they rest in These words are frequently quoted but not always under-

When Augustine wrote them he was in his middle forties. He had been a Christian for about a dozen years, but in those years he had dedicated his superb mind in the cultivation of his Christian thought

FROM BOYHOOD through adolescence, and up to mature adulthood, Augustine, the son of a pagan father and a Christian mother had been keenly aware of his deep need for true inner peace. He tried the profligacy of youth in sensual pleasures, but reaped therefrom the bitter fruits of wormwood and gall

Then, for a time, in his twenties, he embraced a widespread system of belief, or rather unbelief, known as Manichaeism, with its drive to free the good from the evil in man by the practice of acute abstinence from many of life's normal enjoyments. But again the seeking heart of Augustine found no peace. He turned elsewhere, this time, in his late twenties, to a philosophical system-Neo-Platonism, noted for its idealistic character. But neither did this provide inward rest for his weary soul.

One day, in A.D. 386, when Augustine was in his early thirties, he walked, in agony of mind, in his garden in Milan. There he heard what he thought was the voice of a child repeating the words. 'Take up and read.'

Thereupon, he picked up a copy of Paul's Epistles and read in Romans, Chapter 13 At the end of the chapter he came upon the words, "Not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying; But put ye on the Lord

Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh to fulfil the lusts thereof.

The inner peace of soul for which he had long searched had come at last.

IN HIS "CONFESSIONS" he writes, "Instantly, as I reached the end of this sentence, it was as if the light of peace was poured into my heart, and all the shades of doubt faded (Book VIII, Chapter

Sixteen centuries have passed since that day, and times have changed. But man's basic need for true peace remains.

This can be had only where Augustine found it, in a merciful God, and only as He is approached through Jesus Christ, our Redeemer and Here is a tempting steak recipe that does not require much time for preparing. It was sent in by Mrs. Gene Josephine Adams of East End.

Pepper Steak 2 pounds of round steak, cut in serving pieces Salt, pepper, and garlic salt.

Parsley, if desired 1 medium onion can tomato soup, diluted 1 can (medium) tomato

Season steak with salt, pepper and garlic salt, being careful not to use too much salt because of the seasoned tomato soup. Roll in flour and fry in oil. Drain on paper towels. Put in sauce, about 1/2 cup, in bottom of casserole, add steak, green pepper, slices of onions, parsley and end with

Repeat until casserole is about three - fourths full. Cover and bake in oven (325 degrees) for about two hours or until steak is tender. Can be served with cooked rice.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Georgia Keeper, who passed away one year ago today, April 15, 1966. A lonely grave upon a hill, We often go to see, Dear one you are in our hearts, And all our memories. We cherish you with all our hearts, Each moment, night and day, You really meant the world to us, What more can we say. No one knows how much we miss you. Your memories are sweet to recall. You had a kind word for everyone, And died beloved by all. Sadly missed by daughter, Jeanette Stockman and granddaughters Sandy and Linda.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our neighbors and friends for flowers, prayers and cards. Everything was greatly appreciated.

IN MEMORIAM

PLANT WITHVIOLET

I loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother. Georgia Keeper, who passed away one year ago today, April 15, 1966. A lonely grave upon a hill. We often go to see, Dear one you are in our hearts, And all our memories. We cherish you with all our hearts, Each moment, night and day, You really meant the world to us, What more can we say. No one knows how much we miss you, Your memories are sweet to recall. You had a kind word for everyone, And died beloved by all. Sadly missed by daughter, Jeanette Stockman and granddaughters Sandy and Linda.

QUESTION: Which is bigger, Texas or Alaska?

ANSWER: Texas was a vast, largely unexplored region 450 years ago, but a host of settlers, homesteaders, cattle kings, miners, lumberjacks, oil drillers, cotton planters and others have turned the area into one of our greatest and most important states. At one time, Texas was an independent republic by itself, but joined the union in 1845. Including 4,499 square miles of inland water, the area of Texas is 267,330 square miles. Until 1959, this great size made Texas the largest state in the union. In 1867, Russia sold a huge area of land on the upper northwest corner of the American continent to the U. S. A. for $7,200,000. It was called Alaska from a word used by the Aleut Indians who lived there, which meant great land. To show how large this land is, our artist has superimposed it in black over an outline of the main part of U. S. A. The area of Alaska is 586.400 square miles, including inland waters. When Alaska gained statehood in 1959, it became the largest state of the union.
